GOFF EULOGIZES ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Says He Was President of Presidents—Centenary Not Generally Observed Here.

There was no general celebration in Richmond yesterday of the centennial anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. The business houses and the Post-Office Department observed the usual hours, and there were no formal exercises in the public schools, although some compositions on Lincoln were read.

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals did not hold a session during the day, adjourning a few minutes past 11 o'clock, after Circuit Judge Goff had paid a beautiful tribute to Lincoln's memory. Judge Goff said in part:

"Among heroes he is a hero, and among martyrs he is a martyr; among our statesmen he was the statesman, and among our Presidents the President. He loved the Union of the States; he had faith in the work of our nation. He saved our country that all the people thereof might enjoy it, and that it might be, as to-day it is, a beacon light to all humanity."

"It is in memory of such a life, of such a man, that this court honors itself by now adjourning."

Dr. E. N. Caisch conducted services at Beth Abrahams Synagogue last night, speaking on "The Life and Character of Lincoln."

The colored people of the city celebrated the day with appropriate exercises in St. Philip's Church last night, under the auspices of the Dunbar Literary and Historical Society. Dr. J. B. Simpson, of the Virginia Union University, delivered the oration.

BUILDING AND REPAIRS

Many Alterations to Old Houses Are Put On Record.

Building and repair permits were issued yesterday as follows: Eureka Ice Company, to repair brick building, 217, 219 and 221 Market Space, to cost $250.

George W. Davis, to repair frame dwelling, 2005 Beverly Avenue, to cost $15.

Mr. H. C. Breeden, to repair brick dwelling, 719 West Grace Street, to cost $100.

CONGRESS OF CLASS WORKERS

In the Denny Street Methodist Church to-morrow afternoon, the Methodist Sunday-School Society of Richmond will hold its quarterly meeting.

A representation from every Methodist Sunday-school in the city is expected.

Governor Swanson Will Not Subject His Staff to Roosevelt Test.

"Cun!" on the staff of His Excellency, Governor Claude A. Swanson, need have no alarm. The Governor is out with an announcement that he has no intention of subjecting his staff officers to the Roosevelt endurance test—horseback riding twenty miles per day. Maybe the Governor has too much regard for the physical comfort of his "cunls." At any rate the news will be a balm to the staff officers, for few of them are hankering for the test of their horseback.

NO INJUNCTION AGAINST ARMORY

Judge Grinnan Refuses Petition of Adjoining Property Owners.

Judge Grinnan, of the Chancery Court, yesterday afternoon denied the petition of D. O. Davis and others for an injunction restraining the city from erecting an armory and market building at the Second Market.

The complaint, drawn out by the complainants, immediately decided to carry their petition to one of the judges of the Supreme Court of Virginia. Until the matter is decided by that court the Blues' Armory will, figuratively speaking, be still up in the air, though there is yet very little of it on the ground.

The petition for the injunction was argued at length by Mr. Pickrell for the adjoining property owners, and by City Attorney Pollard and Assistant City Attorney Anderson for the city.

The complaint grows out of the building of four small stores on the market court, which is now to be built over, thus blocking ingress and egress.

The court's order was as follows: "On consideration whereof the court doth overrule said motion, and refuses to grant said injunction prayed for in complainants' bill. The complainants having expressed a desire to present the papers in this cause to one of the judges of the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia for the purpose of obtaining the injunction prayed for in the said bill, it is ordered that the original papers, together with a copy of the proceedings in said court, and of the order refusing said injunction, be delivered to said complainants or their counsel of record for that purpose."

POLICE COURT CASES

J. W. Butler Is Acquitted On Charge of Running Gambling House.

William Loney (colored) was dismissed in the Police Court yesterday morning of the charge of selling whiskey without a license. Reliance could not be placed on the statements of a witness appearing against him.

Joseph Dainridge (colored) was fined $50 and sent to jail for six months on a charge of being disorderly and threatening to kill W. E. Guard.

Robert Cochran was arrested on a charge of being disorderly and threatening to kill W. E. Guard.

Matt Byrd (colored) was arrested on a charge of being disorderly and threatening to kill W. E. Guard.

Tom Green (white) was arrested on a charge of assaulting J. B. Stanley.

INSPECT SITES FOR RIFLE RANGE

Commanding Officers of Virginia Regiments to Recommend Final Selection.

By direction of Governor Swanson, the commanding officers of the Virginia regiments are ordered to inspect the various proposed sites for the State rifle range and to make a written report to the State military board as to which site is, in their opinion, best suited for the location of a range.

The members of the State board hope to have the rifle range completed before the time the Virginia rifle teams begin their practice preparatory to participating in the national rifle shoot at Camp Perry, Ohio, late in the coming summer. The present range is at Williamsburg, but it is not regarded as suitable for the practice work.

Colonel Nottingham, who commands the Fourth Regiment, has not yet received his commission from Governor Swanson, and for that reason he was not appointed to the special advisory board of colonels.

STUDENT MAKES PUBLIC APOLOGY

Richmond College Freshman Is Allowed to Present His Statement Before Body.

Differences among the students of Richmond College were practically settled yesterday afternoon, when B. M. Davidson, of Gaffney, S. C., who claims to have been the victim of an attack to satisfy a personal grudge, apologized to the students and faculty.

Davidson last night acknowledged that the statements made in The Times-Dispatch of yesterday were true, although he differed with the report in that the demand for him to present himself came after, and not before, he fired a pistol bullet through his door.

Students avow that they went to Davidson's room with no intent of treating him more severely than he had treated others whom they had visited earlier. Davidson is said to have violated college etiquette, which prohibits a first-year man from visiting a room in which he flashed his revolver and it was "to tame him down" that he was visited.

Dr. Boatwright's Statement.

In response to an inquiry, President Boatwright said that an entirely satisfactory settlement of the differences between certain students had been made on yesterday.

Dr. Boatwright called a meeting of students and faculty yesterday and earnestly advised that all differences be adjusted. He stated that the students responded splendidly to this appeal to their college loyalty.

Dr. Boatwright said that great credit for the happy ending of the affair was due to the members of the senior class, the officers of which led in the successful effort to restore good feeling.

FARNAM GOES TO JAIL

Young Man Found Guilty of Petit Larceny On Five Counts.

W. H. Farnam, alias Dr. Waddell, was found guilty in the Police Court yesterday morning of petit larceny in five counts and was sentenced to fifteen days in jail on each count.

The young man had already spent about a month in jail and his lawyer stated that the confinement had impaired his health and that he was now a sick man. For this reason the Commonwealth did not press the case, and the prisoner got out with light sentence.

Farnam deposited a check in the National Bank for $75, against which he drew that check was found afterwards to be worthless. Another check, for a larger amount, was deposited in the American National Bank, and this, too, was returned as no good. Farnam pleaded that he thought the checks were all good.

MANN WILL REPLY TO DAY

Senator, Here on Business, Declines to Comment on Journal Editorial.

United States Senator Thomas S. Martin arrived in Richmond from Washington, D. C., yesterday morning, and left last night for Lynchburg. Judge William H. Mann arrived here from Winchester by way of Washington at 9:30 o'clock last night, and will remain in the city several days.

When seen at Murphy's Hotel by a Times-Dispatch reporter, Senator Martin said that he came to Richmond on purely private business, and added: "I have not seen the editorial in the Richmond Journal to which you refer, and, if I had, I would not make any statement about it. I do not care to discuss anybody else's campaign. I must take care of his own campaign."

Senator Martin came here to secure a charter from the State Corporation Commission for a land company in Elida Vista, near Lynchburg. After getting the charter, the Senator called on Governor Swanson.

Mann's Reply Not Completed.

Asked by a reporter about his promised statement in reply to the Journal editorial, Judge Mann said: "I have my reply in course of preparation, and had hoped to have it ready for publication to-night, but I found that in order to make my reply full and complete I must have certain information that I cannot get in time to complete the statement until to-morrow. I regret that this delay is necessary, but deem it best to cover the whole matter at one time."

The Judge appeared to be very well pleased with conditions as he found them throughout the Valley of Virginia, and the entire northern section of the State. He declared that he had received no news except good news from any section, and more especially since the withdrawal of Mr. Stuart.

RICHMOND DAUGHTERS REAFFIRM POSITION

HOSPITALS ASK COUNCIL FOR NO

Confederate Women Say Award of Prize was a "Grievous Mistake."

At a conference held last night between representatives of the boards of the hospitals of the city, it was decided to ask the Finance Committee of the City Council to afford some relief from the charity work now devolving on the various hospitals, and which appears about to cause their bankruptcy.

At the Memorial, Virginia, Retreat and Sheltering Arms, last year a total of 10,000 days of free hospital care was given to charity patients at an estimated cost of about $20,000. While all the hospitals propose continuing their charity work as far as they are able, it is represented that they cannot meet the situation as it develops, and the city government must afford some relief.

Pending the erection of an adequate City Hospital, it is proposed that the city make an arrangement with the various hospitals for caring for a specified number of charity patients in addition to those the hospitals take on their own account.

The committee was named to appear before the Finance Committee next Tuesday night to present the situation; Eppa Dunton, Jr., Caperton, Brodton, W. S. Forbes, L. Z. Morris, John P. Branch, E. L. Lewis, Wyndham Meredith, Lewis Williams, C. V. Meredith and Fred W. Scott.

Richmond Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, yesterday afternoon reaffirmed its position in regard to the much-discussed Boyson essay on General Lee, claiming that neither President E. A. Alderman, of the University of Virginia, nor President C. Alphonso Smith, of the University of North Carolina, had answered the statements made in the official protest filed by Richmond Chapter.

The resolutions adopted were directed to be published in the Confederate Veteran, the official organ of the Daughters of the Confederacy. In addition to the former resolutions, the chapter yesterday passed, paragraph by paragraph, on the following:

"First. That Richmond Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, holds itself responsible as a whole for the foregoing resolutions."

"Second. That the chapter indorses the protest of the editor of Confederate Veteran, when he says in its December issue that it is unfortunate the United Daughters of the Confederacy did not publish a paper eulogizing General Lee at the expense of nearly all that is true of the South and her people."

"Third. That no mention is made in the foregoing resolutions of the oft-printed and quoted clause used by Miss Boyson, in which she refers to General Lee as 'the traitor who sacrificed all to aid the enemies of his country, but so was George Washington and John Hampton and William of Orange.'"

"Fourth. The chapter made this protest on account of the many inaccuracies and misstatements in the essay, notably those in reference to the South's condition as a whole, and the reflections cast on her people, her private soldiers and officers. Now who were these officers? Stonewall Jackson, Beauregard, J. E. B. Stuart, General Lee, and many others too numerous to mention."

"Fifth. Richmond Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, feels that neither Dr. Alderman, of the University of Virginia, nor President C. Alphonso Smith, of the University of North Carolina, has answered the statements made in its official protest on January 28. It feels that a grievous mistake was made by the committee of award, and the history committee of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, when they conferred the prize and printed the Boyson essay without protest in the official organ of the United Daughters. It considers it unfortunate that the essay did not appear in the Confederate Veteran before the United Daughters of the Confederacy convention of 1908. In November, as the essay had been examined in May of that year."

"Sixth. Among the statements in the essay which are particularly objectionable are the following paragraph: 'For neither as the exponent of a former patriotism, which the results of the war have made treason, nor as a leader of a lost cause, could he (Lee) attract the public to read carefully and thoughtfully the whole essay and judge of its merits as a historical paper, to be placed in the archives of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.'"

"Seventh. The chapter requests the public to read carefully and thoughtfully the whole essay and judge of its merits as a historical paper, to be placed in the archives of the United Daughters of the Confederacy."

"Eighth. The chapter requests the public to read carefully and thoughtfully the whole essay and judge of its merits as a historical paper, to be placed in the archives of the United Daughters of the Confederacy."

"Ninth. The chapter requests the public to read carefully and thoughtfully the whole essay and judge of its merits as a historical paper, to be placed in the archives of the United Daughters of the Confederacy."

"Tenth. The chapter requests the public to read carefully and thoughtfully the whole essay and judge of its merits as a historical paper, to be placed in the archives of the United Daughters of the Confederacy."

"Eleventh. The chapter requests the public to read carefully and thoughtfully the whole essay and judge of its merits as a historical paper, to be placed in the archives of the United Daughters of the Confederacy."

"Twelfth. The chapter requests the public to read carefully and thoughtfully the whole essay and judge of its merits as a historical paper, to be placed in the archives of the United Daughters of the Confederacy."

"Thirteenth. The chapter requests the public to read carefully and thoughtfully the whole essay and judge of its merits as a historical paper, to be placed in the archives of the United Daughters of the Confederacy."

"Fourteenth. The chapter requests the public to read carefully and thoughtfully the whole essay and judge of its merits as a historical paper, to be placed in the archives of the United Daughters of the Confederacy."

"Fifteenth. The chapter requests the public to read carefully and thoughtfully the whole essay and judge of its merits as a historical paper, to be placed in the archives of the United Daughters of the Confederacy."

"Sixteenth. The chapter requests the public to read carefully and thoughtfully the whole essay and judge of its merits as a historical paper, to be placed in the archives of the United Daughters of the Confederacy."

"Seventeenth. The chapter requests the public to read carefully and thoughtfully the whole essay and judge of its merits as a historical paper, to be placed in the archives of the United Daughters of the Confederacy."

"Eighteenth. The chapter requests the public to read carefully and thoughtfully the whole essay and judge of its merits as a historical paper, to be placed in the archives of the United Daughters of the Confederacy."
